

1. Detection of an edge on the front side of a silicon tube

An edge on a silicon tube should be detected. At this, the silicon tube is turning around its own axis while the laser spot of the laser edge detector type LCC-30 is directed onto the front side. The distance of the laser sensor to the silicon tube is approximately 35mm. The edge can be detected properly as shown in the screen shots.

